

THE CLANS

GATHERED AT LONG BEACH IN BATTLE ARMY.

A Field Day in the Polyglot Temperance Convention—Stirring up the Animals—The Elephant Walks Around, and the Band Begins to Play.

LONG BEACH, Aug. 10.—[Special Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Friday morning at 9 o'clock found every Republican, every Democrat, every Prohibitionist, every W.C.T.U.ist and every anti-saloonist on these grounds in the Tabernacle, eager for the fray. The forenoon was taken up by the addresses from various representatives. A stirring appeal from Miss S. C. Burnett, who is a second Frances E. Willard in point of eloquent, effective speech, held the attention of the audience while in her sweet, womanly way, and in the spirit of the Master, she pleaded the cause of the W.C.T.U. Dr. J. P. Widney is a most convincing speaker, in that he always preserves calmness and dignity of manner. He never indulges in personalities or says bitter, harsh things, and pleads earnestly for harmony. Said he: "The liquor men hope we will split and divide and quarrel. They dread above all things to have the different shades of temperance brought together."

RESOLUTIONS. He then proceeded to read the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted by the convention:

"WHEREAS, we, a general convention of the people of Southern California, gathered irrespective of party, recognize in the sale and use of intoxicating liquors an evil which, more than any other, is leading to the spiritual and moral degradation of our people; is desecrating our homes, and is threatening the very existence of our free government, and of our whole social fabric; and,

WHEREAS, because of the widespread and deep hold which this evil has taken among us, we feel the importance of rallying to the battle against it every possible element of strength upon the side of the home and of good government; therefore, be it

Resolved, that while recognizing the good work done by the temperance parties and organizations now in the field, and bidding them God speed in their work, we urge from this general convention called irrespective of party; that immediate steps be taken by the people of Southern California to organize in each town a citizens' movement in local municipal affairs, to put into the field at each municipal election a ticket of good and true men, pledged to use every lawful means for the absolute suppression of the liquor-selling establishment, and of its progeny, the house of gambling, the opium den and the brothel; and to this end we urge upon all good and true American citizens to abandon party lines in these local contests, as party politics should have no place in elections which are strictly local and municipal in character, and where the only possible questions at issue are simply those of local good government and the security of our homes; and, be it further

Resolved, that every political organization, and every religious, moral or social organization, be urged to take such immediate steps as may seem to it to be wisest, to prevent at the coming session of the Legislature any change in the laws whereby the right of local option, as exemplified in the recent Pasadena liquor trial, and passed upon by the Supreme Court of the State may be abolished, abridged or impaired, and that the Legislature be petitioned to extend the same right to the county by the establishment of township government in this State.

Resolved, that in compliance with a request received by this convention from the W.C.T.U. of Southern California, a committee of five be appointed to confer with them upon the proper steps to be taken for the enforcement of laws for the suppression of gambling, and in a request to Congress that where State or local laws exist against the sale of liquors the authority of the General Government should not be used to legalize the sale of intoxicating liquors upon grounds under the immediate jurisdiction of the General Government, but which may be located within the natural boundary lines of said State or locality.

"The said committee to have power to act for this convention."

The 11 o'clock train brought a crowd of Los Angeles people, who came down to listen to, or take part in, the proceedings. Among them were Rev. Will A. Knight, Dr. H. B. Matthews, Mr. S. A. Widney, Miss Widney, Mr. Book, Mr. A. Matthews.

THE REPRESENTATION. The afternoon session convened at 1:45, when it was decided to hold an evening meeting also. Col. Babcock, formerly of St. Louis, now of San Francisco, and a prospective resident of Los Angeles, introduced the following resolution, which was adopted by the convention:

"Resolved, that this convention extend to the citizens of Pasadena their most cordial congratulations, upon their heroic, persistent and successful efforts to banish the saloons from their beautiful city, and for their continued efforts to prevent the sale of intoxicating drinks in their midst."

Rev. Stuntz made a report of the attendance as follows: Delegates at large, Prohibitionists, 10; Republicans, 10; Anti-saloon, 10; W.C.T.U., 10; Democrats, 1. Total, 41. Number of churches represented, 18; Unions (W.C.T.U.), 12; I.O.G.T. (orders), 4; Sunday-schools and Band of Hope, 3. Total attendance, 471.

The early part of the afternoon was devoted principally to the forming of committees to adopt plans of work in various towns and localities of Southern California, in accordance with the resolutions passed by the convention. When this business was disposed of, the general attention of the audience was again directed to the platform, and gradually the war of political fury

WAXED WILD AND FIERCE.

One speaker after another sprang up in rapid succession, and without waiting to mount the platform, gave vent to his opinions, regardless of the cries of "Order!" "Order!" "Platform!" "Question!" "Time's up!" etc., which resounded from all parts of the building. With some difficulty the chairman succeeded in curbing the excitement sufficiently for his voice to be heard. Dr. Widney pleaded "peace, peace, brothers," once more, and tried to pour oil on the troubled waters, suggesting that all personalities and party abuse be stopped. One gentleman, who seemed to be a general disturber, however, insisted upon "stirring up the animals" on every possible occasion, but most of the wrangling was done in a half-playful manner, and the personal gibes were turned aside without hurting the feelings of the respective parties to any great extent.

Dr. Miller of Pasadena made a vigorous speech, in which he stated that the General Methodist Episcopal Conference pronounced in favor of prohibition, and nearly every church of every denomination—not excepting the hard-shell Baptist—has taken this stand. Furthermore,

JOHN A. LOGAN proposed to take the revenue of the liquor traffic and divide it among the school funds. "The Republican delegates to the National Convention traveled all the way from San Francisco to Chicago in an open saloon," he added, and must be acknowledged, with truth.

Rev. D. H. Gillan of Riverside also gave a very spirited address, which elicited round after round of applause. At 4:30 a motion was made to adjourn the convention till evening. The chairman advised all the brethren to go down to the ocean, take a dip and get "cooled off," and many acted on this suggestion.

THE EVENING SESSION was very interesting. The platform was occupied by Miss S. C. Burnett, Judge Hubbell, Rev. A. M. Hough and Col. Babcock, each giving a 20-minute speech, after which the convention formally adjourned to meet in one year.

THE CAMPERS. The pretty little grove of eucalyptus trees surrounding the tabernacle is transformed into a veritable camping-ground. The gleam of white tents through the green foliage is very suggestive of the Bible truth, "the hosts of the Lord have come together, and have encamped round about the tabernacle." Here are located, with their families, Rev. J. W. Van Cleave, University; Rev. F. B. Cherington, D.D., San Fernando; Rev. D. H. Gillan, Riverside; Rev. J. A. Wachob, San Bernardino; Mr. P. H. Bodkins, Los Angeles, editor Southern California Christian Advocate; Mr. G. Howland, University; Mrs. Faulkner, University; Mr. William Dresser, Tulare; Mr. A. R. Dresser, Santa Ana; Mr. William O. Dresser, Modesto; Mr. John D. Hoff, Mr. L. B. Dutton, Elsinore; Rev. H. Jones, Mr. C. E. Birge, Compton; Dr. Knight, Los Angeles; Mr. H. M. Rhodes, Hesperia; Mr. G. P. Canfield, Pasadena; Mr. C. B. May, El Modena; Mr. M. S. Ballard, Compton; Mrs. H. B. Chaffee, Mrs. B. Johnson, Garden Grove; Mrs. J. J. Foster, McPherson; Mr. S. K. Hemphill, Miss M. P. Clark, Orange; Dr. L. H. Mills, Mr. T. H. Hill, El Modena; Rev. Henry, Rev. Hough, Mrs. Johnson, Garden Grove; Mrs. S. A. Bisbee, Miss Emma Barron, Compton; Mr. N. G. Waller, Pasadena; Messrs. S. and M. L. Whitehorn, Los Angeles; Miss Arnold and Miss Clark, Los Angeles.

There is a large frame building in the outskirts of this grove, which is devoted to the entertainment, during assembly and camping, of speakers from abroad, and after its model at Chautauqua, is called "Knower's Ark." At present there are quartered here Rev. George W. James of Oakland, whose scholarly lectures have delighted and instructed both Long Beach and Los Angeles audiences during his sojourn in Southern California; Rev. E. L. Spencer and family, Los Angeles; Mrs. Emma Cash, W.C.T.U.; Mrs. H. G. Damon, Windsor, Vt., who was the sole representative of the W.C.T.U. from the Green Mountain State; Mrs. S. E. Field, Monterey; Mrs. Hopson, Pasadena; Mrs. Nellie Langheed, Mrs. Carry Langheed, Los Angeles; Rev. and Mrs. A. M. Goodsell, Mr. and Mrs. Waters, Mrs. Mary E. Rick, Westminster.

An old gentleman, tenting on these grounds gave me an interesting bit of his biography, which has a moral in it. Said he: "The first regular temperance organization was formed in 1828. I was a young man then, in York State. I heard of this organization, and I made up my mind I'd find it and join it. Well, I walked afoot," as the Pennsylvanians say, all through the Empire State, hunting up that society, till at last I found 'em in Plattsburg, and signed the pledge then and there. That was 50 years ago, and look at them! There are 20 of my descendants on these grounds, and there's another batch a-comin'—and every one of 'em's temperance folks."

Mr. M. G. McKoon and wife, who have been spending a month at the beach, return to the city tomorrow. Mr. S. Hawver and family of Los Angeles are located in a cottage down by the sea. Several business men of Los Angeles stop here, going back and forth daily, among them Messrs. C. W. Gable, S. K. Lindley and C. E. Day and Rev. A. M. Hough.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams of Alhambra, after a month's sojourn here, return home today.

Dr. J. G. Miller and wife of Pasadena are enjoying life in their cottage on Ocean avenue. The genial doctor may often be seen driving along the beach in his carriage, accompanied by some one of his numerous friends.

Dr. H. P. Widney and wife are also tarrying by the sea. HAZEL.

A Fortunate Druggist.

Mr. Edwin W. Joy for many years and now a prosperous druggist on the corner of Stockton and Market streets in San Francisco probably never dreamed of rivaling the wealth of the medicine kings of the country. But various rumors having been floating around to the effect that he has struck it big, an Examiner reporter was detailed to unearth the cause, and after much difficulty unravelled the following story:

It seems that about seven years ago an English physician, a great student of botany, located for a brief season in this city. His practice was not extensive, and yet the few cases of a general nature that came to him attracted no little attention. His greatest success seemed to be in the treatment of liver and kidney disorders, and vitiated blood. In fact his ability to cope with these common complaints was little short of the marvelous. He seemed almost infallible, and his quick, modest methods and his well kept secret was as much a mystery as himself. After his departure about a year later Mr. Joy determined to fathom the secret, and copying all the prescriptions he had filled for the erratic doctor, he began a systematic analysis. In his examination he discovered running all through the prescriptions for liver and kidney troubles, vitiated blood and stomach disorders a couple of vegetable extracts indigenous to California, so simple and so well known under nearly every name to every school boy as to entirely dissipate the suspicion that they were the active principles involved. So certain, however, was Mr. Joy that he had discovered the secret that he embodied the new elements in a preparation of Sarsaparilla to displace the herb, and put it before his customers under the modest name of Joy's "Vegetable Sarsaparilla." Immediately the same marvelous stories came back of its astonishing effects, and the mystery was solved, and the talk it had created had already caused it to step into prominence, and orders pour in daily from all over the coast. People seem to be taking it and writing and talking about it throughout the State. And thus another California industry leaps into existence.—S. F. Examiner.

ON THE WINNING SIDE.

Late Styles, Clean Goods, Low Prices. A combination of these three important factors brings the consumer nearer the seller. Confidence tells every time. Again, 36 inches make a yard, in breadth as well as length. Nine-quarter sheeting with us means two and one-quarter yards, eighty-one inches; all other cotton goods in like proportion.

THE DEMAND OF THE LOCAL MARKET REGULATES PRICES.

The shutting down of mills with a large surplus on hand, the warlike demonstrations on the other side of the water, are like the "flowers that bloom in the spring"—have nothing to do with the case. The demand of the home market regulates the price on every class of merchandise.

MERCHANDISE DETERIORATES,

To a greater or lesser degree, when carried over from one season to another. We base our argument right here.

CLEAN GOODS, NO OLD GOODS IN STOCK, LOW PRICES—these are what the people want. Winter goods in summer time are useless as a gift. The crowds at 7 and 9 North Spring is the result of low prices.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

SOME THINGS THAT HAVE COME FROM ABROAD.

The Little Swiss Hat—The Wonderful Nutcracker—The Lovers Who Turned to Turtle Doves—The Home in the Pagoda.

I think I will tell you about some pretty things which I have just seen, which some friends of mine, with whom I am visiting, have brought from Europe.

First of all is a set of "willow-ware" cups, saucers and plates. They are of china, and were manufactured in England. The groundwork is white, but all of the figures are of a dark ultramarine blue, and in all this ware you see the same story represented. The story, as it was told me, was something as follows:

Once upon a time there was a young man who loved a beautiful maiden. There was no other face that was so fair to him as hers; no eyes that shone so bright, and no smile that was so full of sweetness. And the maiden thought that there never was a knight so brave and true as this bold young lover of hers, and so she gave him her heart, and was never so happy as when they met together. But her parents were crabbed old folks, and would not consent to the marriage of these two young people. And so they fled from home, and crossed a long arched bridge, from whence could be seen a beautiful island lying upon the distant water. Though they were pursued by the angry father, they made their escape, and found a boat lying upon the water, which bore them to the shining isle, where they landed. Here beautiful willow trees grew along the banks, and here was a grand old pagoda, with pointed turrets and towers, which they made their home, for they were married in this isle, and lived here contented and happy for many years. At last the maiden died, and was very tender to them, and because they had loved each other so well, they were changed into turtle doves when they died, and as such they lived in the island trees among the blossoming boughs of the fragrant isle.

Upon this "willow-ware" is pictured the pretty pagoda with the willows and the billowy sea. And there, too, is the bridge, across which the lovers are fleeing, with the angry father following swift behind. The sea falls in soft ripples about the isle, the pagoda rises its towers, and over all circle the turtle doves, their wings spread, above the reach of anything that could harm. Don't you think this a nice story for a plate, or a tiny cup and saucer to tell?

Another thing which I have been looking at today is a wooden nutcracker, which is most beautifully carved, to represent the head and face of the late Emperor William. It is true to life, and you might recognize the likeness at once if you have ever seen the picture of the old Emperor. It was carved by hand, the hair and the whiskers all beautifully chiseled, and the eyes clear cut, and the lips wearing the expression which was his in life. I should wish to use to crack a nut. I should press upon the handle, which take the place of the body, and the mouth would open wide and I should slip a nut into it, and with a little pressure crack the nut would go, and it would be ready for eating. Don't you think it would be fun to have such a nut-cracker as this?

And there is a cunning wooden hat from Switzerland which Mrs. Austin has just showed me. The wood is carved so perfectly that it looks like a cluster of splendid flowers—roses and tiny buds and bits of ribbon, all looking as natural as the real things which we see upon our own hats, or which grow in our gardens. Lifting up the hat-crown, we find beneath it a pretty glass ink-bottle, and discover that the quaintly carved hat is but an inkstand, curious in its work and finish. Then there is a peasant's shoe, so curiously cut out of the wood that it looks like old, wrinkled leather. This is the rent in its side as if it had been worn upon the peasant's foot and cut upon a sharp stone, or by a woodman's axe. There are the hobnails and the thick, lying thickness upon the thick sole, and looking for all the world like genuine half-worn leather. It is wonderful the curious things that these people manufacture, but I will not tell you any more about them now, for I must leave room for your letters, for I hope you have written a good many, and have many things of interest to tell me. Good-bye, my dears.

P. S.—One of my little girls asked me last week if I was Harrison. Of course I am, and if she and I could only vote wouldn't we cast two big ones for him and help to swell the majority which he is sure to have next November.

There is another pleasant letter from a little girl we have heard from before: CENTRALIA, Aug. 5, 1888.

Dear Mrs. Otis: As I saw the letter in THE TIMES, I thought I would write again.

I have a little calf named Clover. Sometimes, when she is looking at me, I motion with my fingers to her, and she follows me all around. They are very fond of figs. At noon, when the chickens are being fed wheat, those little ducklings always come out and eat, too.

A few weeks ago one of our cats died. The fleas killed it. It was always sleeping with the pups, and they have a good many fleas on; so the cat got most of them on. Its name was Yellow. We called it that because it was a yellow cat. We have three left yet, but two of them are full of fleas, and I guess they will die, too. One of our young horses had a sore leg and we had a horse doctor out to see him. He gave him some medicine to put on his leg, and now he is nearly all right again. Well, I must close for this time.

Lovingly your friend, FANNIE G. REDLICH.

And still another of our little friends writes to us again: CENTRALIA, Aug. 5, 1888.

Dear Mrs. Otis: I would have written again before this, but didn't see the paper. I was delighted to see it in print, and concluded to write always.

It is so warm here that we have to keep the windows and doors open.

For spite, Dory Hickox is supposed to be the shooter. The team was followed up to their house, only half a mile from us. We all feel very bad about Cesar, as he was so good, and we had him three years.

We have a young horse called Kitty. She is fat and heavy, but is very good. About two miles from here lives a man named Mr. Potter. He is so jolly and full of fun, and teases the girls, too. He takes the Mignon and saw the other letter I wrote.

Two years ago we had a picnic in this gunnery. We spent all day there. You can imagine what a good time we had. He jumped about all day, laughing and playing.

We have only four dogs left. I forgot to say Cesar was shot in the heart and died instantly.

Harold Butler has been camping at Anaheim Landing a week. The last day of school he was dressed up as a girl and, oh! he looked very pretty.

I draw in my drawing-book nearly every day, drawing from cards and by eye. Well, I think I have written a long enough letter for this time. Next time I'll try and put in some funny things. Yours truly,

LOTTIE E. SADIE R. BERBANK, Aug. 2, 1888.

Dear Mrs. Otis: I enjoy reading the boys' and girls' letters very much. I am 12 years old. Our school will commence next Monday, the 6th of this month. I don't believe we will go. I have four sisters, all younger than myself. I have one sister that has been sick all her life. It is what the doctor calls exema. I would like to ask one question: What does Pina M. Webb mean by "my bed of $16,000 was made by a gentleman going to Los Angeles?"

I will close now, for I think my letter long enough. If I see this in THE TIMES I will write again.

Yours truly, LILY THOMPSON.

We will ask Pina to write to us again and answer the question of this little girl.

Here is a pleasant letter from Sierra Madre, July 28, 1888.

Dear Mrs. Otis: I have read the children's page, and I like it; so I thought I would write a letter, too. I have been to San Pedro, camping. I have three brothers and no sister. Mamma and papa and baby went down to the buggy. My uncle took my other two brothers and me and went down on the train. Then my aunt and cousin and a neighbor's boy came. We all went and saw the lighthouse. The light cost $8000. In a few days mamma, papa and baby and me went camping. We went to lots of places. We got back home Thursday evening. The next letter I write I will tell you the places I went to. I am 9 years old. My birthday is on the 4th of November. Now I will say good-bye.

PASADENA.

Terrible Fall of a Decorative Artist—The War on Liquor.

PASADENA, Aug. 11.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] A man by the name of George Abern, employed as a fresco artist by C. B. Tibbald, the decorator, to work upon the ceiling of the new opera-house here, this morning fell from the scaffolding on which the decorators work to the floor of the auditorium, a distance of 41 feet. A board in the floor of the scaffolding proved defective, breaking with the man's weight and thus permitting the unfortunate artist to fall through. He was at once taken up and carried across the street to a dwelling, and physicians summoned to his assistance. On examination it was found that one arm was broken in three places, the collar-bone fractured, left hip injured, and a severe contusion existed on the front of the head. At a late hour the injured man had not recovered consciousness, and serious fears existed as to the immediate result of the terrible fall. Capt. N. P. Smith, the superintendent of the building, is doing all in his power in the matter, and trying to get word to the relatives of the artist, who, it is understood, has no friends on this coast, but comes from Youngstown, Ohio.

The following letter from Dr. H. A. Reid was received yesterday by the detectives having the temperance matter in hand:

"PASADENA, Aug. 10, 1888. 'Messrs. Reid and Belton, Pasadena Detective Agency: I am this day instructed by the United States Revenue Officer to find out whether there are any places in Pasadena selling liquors without a United States revenue license or permit, in violation of the United States law, and report to him the names and places of business of such violators, if there are any. 'The United States law requires these revenue licenses to be displayed in a conspicuous place in the place of business of the holder or place where such liquors are sold. 'Please attend to it at once. 'H. A. REID, 'Chairman Enforcement Committee. 'The detectives found that two parties had United States license, but the same were not displayed conspicuously, as demanded by the law, and others were carrying on the sale of beer and other liquors without first having settled with Uncle Sam for that inestimable privilege. These parties will all probably be interviewed shortly by the United States authorities. The liquor people are between two fires. If they display a United States license it is pretty good evidence that they sell liquors, and if they are proved to sell contrary to law Uncle Sam gets after them for that, so they either run against Uncle Sam or ordinance 45; in either case they are liable to a fine. 'Mr. Reid O'Neal, who brings the Los Angeles morning papers to this city, met with a narrow escape about a week ago, when he was riding on his horse preparatory to going back to Los Angeles, when the horse suddenly started, and on seizing the only line in reach, O'Neal was dragged some little distance, and finally thrown onto the sidewalk on Union street, and the horse dashed down Fair Oaks avenue at break-neck speed, soon overturning and breaking the light cart to which he was hitched. Mr. O'Neal found the animal this morning in South Pasadena. 'The case of James McCarthy, on trial yesterday before Justice Terry, on a charge of battery on Louis Schmidt, in altercation, the subject matter of which was the disputed ownership of a stick of stove-wood, resulted in McCarthy being found guilty. 'Water seems to be quite scarce in the section of the city east of Raymond avenue, and in case of fires in that region disastrous results will surely follow. Cannot this state of affairs be remedied ere long? 'A Mrs. Charles Zeigler, who lives in a tent on the line between Pasadena and South Pasadena, and has been selling beer, was arrested yesterday, but promises to cease selling and move away, and sentence was suspended to see whether she would do as promised. 'The proprietor of the Carlton Hotel was charged with allowing liquors sold there, but proposed to file bond in any reasonable amount. The same liquors would be dispensed on the premises, and that arrangement will be made. 'The "Birch" (Anheuser-Busch) beer men east of the railroad are also being looked after, and they will probably close their "birch beer" business. 'The City Attorney and Marshal, together with Detective Rose, are looking up testimony against various parties who have been suspected of dealing in "birch beer," "groceries" and other "wet go ds." 'Footpads are said to be infesting certain portions of the city. A dose of cold lead might awaken them to a sense of the danger attending little eccentricities of that sort.

Dr. Bresse received a call from the Simpson M. E. Church of Los Angeles, but his own church here desires to retain his services, thus showing the appreciation of both congregations.

The Pasadena Bicycle Club held a meeting at the Carlton, and elected G. H. Frost captain, Sidney A. Smith first lieutenant, J. W. Lancaster second lieutenant, and John Blockburger bugler. They propose issuing a list of runs for the succeeding six months, comprising both day and night runs. The Pasadena Gas Company has at last completed the transfer of all their interests in this city to the Lowe Gas and Electric Company of Los Angeles. New appliances and an improved plant will be put in at an early date.

PERSONALS.

E. C. Webster, his wife, and the Misses Helling are among the last arrivals from the seashore. 'Mr. and Mrs. Landreth, whose home was destroyed by fire a few days since, arrived yesterday from Catalina. They have made temporary arrangements, and will rebuild at once on the site of the other dwelling. 'Dr. T. J. Riggs and wife and J. S. Clark and wife intend visiting Long Beach tomorrow. 'Mrs. C. H. Kimball and the Misses Riggs started on a trip to San Diego yesterday. 'Dr. A. P. Truesdell and family are back from Catalina. 'A. J. Wright is off to the mountains. 'Mr. F. K. Clark and family went to camp at Switzer's today.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The Bituminous Lime Rock Paving and Improvement Company.

Take this opportunity of informing the citizens and property-owners of this city that the pavement laid on Main street, between First and Third streets, is now bituminous lime rock, but is an artificial mixture, and not laid by our company. We make this announcement for the purpose of dissuading the minds of those who entertain the belief that this pavement was laid by this company, and are determined to criticize our material as being soft and not suitable for the streets of this city.

The only bituminous lime rock pavement here was laid by this company, and extends on Main street, from the south line of Third to Ninth street, and on Spring street from Temple to Ninth street. Bituminous lime rock does not become soft and mushy under the heat of the sun, but always remains firm and elastic. We have already laid on the streets of this city about 500,000 square feet of this pavement, to which we take pleasure in inviting inspection. Very respectfully yours, Bituminous Lime Rock Paving and Improvement Company.

J. A. FAIRCHILD, General Manager.
